

Thursday, 17 May 2018, The Melville Times (online)

Little Shop of Horrors* to return to All Saints College

May 17th, 2018, 04:00PM | Written by Bryce Luff | Melville Times NEWS

Little Shop of Horrors will return to All Saints College in June.

CULT classic Little Shop of Horrors will return to All Saints College for three nights in June.

The College's senior school cast will lead the show about a timid floral shop assistant who discovers a mysterious alien plant with a thirst for human blood and global domination.

Stephen Roberts, the College's arts director, said the script included a fresh twist.

"We have made a feature of exposing what is usually hidden in theatre and made the invisible visible," he said.

"Unlike previous performances... this year's adaptation will provide a glimpse behind the curtain with the backstage crew, band, sound and lighting technicians forming part of the on-stage cast."

Several students in a skeleton prop will bring the carnivorous plant, Audrey II, to life.

Top Stories

Wanted: the person who 1000 litres of chemicals
Park

A parents guide to Fortnite and why is my kid obsess